3:00 Panel Intros - Jason

Perform Intro:

You all have lives that happen outside of here, places where you perform. You perform in the fine arts, you perform in athletics, you perform in the classroom. And, what's more, you perform at a high level and for a huge amount of time. So, as we sit here tonight, it begs the question, what does this have to do with that? What does your faith have to do with these vast vast tracts of time in your life? Well that is what we want to get to the bottom of tonight.

Tonight we are looking at the way our faith intersects with the performing arts. And to help us get a clearer sense of what that looks like, we've invited some special guests to answer questions about this connection. Would you help me welcome them to the front?

::clap::

Intros:

Now, tonight we don't want you to just be passive listeners, we want you to really take something away from our time together that will change your life. So, if you have your You Version handy, take that out and use the note function to take notes tonight.

Questions:

-Talk about how you came to be involved in the fine arts and how it has influenced your faith.

-How do the fine arts help you to connect with God in better or deeper ways? Can you think of a specific moment where that happened?

-How do the fine arts give you perspective for things like worshiping God, prayer, or discipleship outside the context of church?

-In what way would you say that your leading or participating in the fine arts demonstrates something about God for other people?

-How are the fine arts a gift that God has given you? How so?

-In what ways can that gift be distorted or broken in your experience?

-What would you say is the first step for these students to allowing God to amplify their experience of the fine arts through their faith?

2:00 Transition to communion jason

We've heard a lot about how our faith connects to the ways we sing, dance, and create beautiful music. The real question tonight is what are you going to do about that? Are you going to make that connection in some small and maybe big ways or are you going to leave these two parts of your life separate?

I want you to take a moment to look at the notes you've taken tonight and pick your top three takeaways. Afterwards, we will step into a time of communion together.

1:00 prayers of the church - Emma Denzer

God we thank you for the places you have given us to exercise our faith and our relationship with you. We thank you for the beauty we can be a part of in creating beautiful dance, music, and art. Would you continue to teach us to capture these moments, these mediums to show the world who you are and also so that we might offer worship to you.

help us to make real the prayer your son taught us to pray... Our father

2:00 Commissioning/Benediction - Jason

The interesting thing about our lives is that there isn't a moment where we are not God's children. So, there is no real difference in who we need to be here compared to another place. That is certainly difficult in some ways when we consider the many faces that we wear in our lives. But, it can also be good news that wherever we are we have the ability to communicate about the God that made us and loves us.

So, as you go tonight, remember that wherever you are as a performer. You are performing in the power of the Holy Spirit.

So, now, go, to love and serve the lord

thanks be to God

0:30 lords prayer - Emma Denzer

All: Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever and ever. Amen.
