

Blast-off! You're an astronaut and you've been left behind on Mars by accident.

Darth Vader senses that you gave him the finger behind his back. He starts suffocating you with his death grip.

Fall asleep and Freddy Krueger will kill you. You've been awake for five days and can't...keep...your...eyes...open.

It's your first day as a bullfighter, and your mom has insisted you wear your best red shirt.

The burner is stuck on your hot-air balloon, and you're heading for outer space.

Yeehaw! You're bronco riding but your hand is caught in the rope. You're being bucked into oblivion.

You find a paper lampshade in your attic you don't remember buying. You gently kick it, and 10,000 evil wasps fly out.

You quickly climb a tree to escape a starving bear. It's a brown bear, and they can climb trees. Grrrrr.

Your family has the plague and your front door has been nailed shut with you inside.

You're a hamster fast asleep in your cage. Your idiot owner thinks you're dead, and flushes you down the toilet.

You're a janitor cleaning Area 51. You accidentally open a door marked, "No Access." Masked scientists yell, "Get him, he's seen too much!"

You're a little pig living in a house made of straw, and the Big Bad Wolf is outside.

You're a moth happily flapping around at night. You spy a candle. You... can't... resist... the... flame.

You're a shipwrecked vampire on a barren desert island. Dawn is coming.

You're a snowman, and a heat wave is coming.

You're a zombie. A biohazard team with flamethrowers have got you cornered.

You're at the top of the Empire State Building... in the fist of a giant gorilla with anger management issues.

You're driving a bus full of people when you get a text: "Drop below 60 mph and it blows."

You're exploring a deep ocean trench in a submarine you built in your garage when it starts filling up with water.

You're ice fishing when you fall through your hole, and the ice refreezes above you.

You're in a shark cage surrounded by great whites, and the door falls off.

You're in Salem during the witch trials, and you're being burned at the stake for having a wart on your nose.

You're in the Alps in winter. You start singing, "The hills are alive with the sound of.... AVALANCHE!"

You're in the ER with chest pains. An X-ray reveals a parasitic alien living inside you, ready to burst out.

You're in your date's apartment on the 20th floor. You throw a ball for the dog. It flies out of the window and the dog jumps after it.

You're on a plane. There are snakes on the plane. Lots of them.

You're on a walking safari. Aargh, wildebeest stampede!

You're taking a dump on a plane. You accidentally hit the flush, and the ferocious vacuum has you stuck to the seat and won't stop.

You're tearing down the highway at 100 mph when the steering wheel breaks off in your hands.

You're the last person clinging to the Titanic as it breaks in half and sinks beneath the icy waves.

You're trapped in the Death Star's trash compactor, and the walls are closing in.

You've been possessed by an evil poltergeist who is dragging you across the ceiling.

You've been swallowed by a suicidal whale.

You've cut off your haunted hand because it tried to strangle you. It's coming for you like a fleshy spider scuttling across the floor.

You've taken a rancid dump in your date's tiny apartment. The smell is immense and they are waiting to use the bathroom.