MORNING TIME

As your teen starts their day, share words of affirmation such as “I love you just the way you are” or “As a child of God, you are more than enough.”

THEIR TIME

In a place where your teen likes to spend “their time,” start a list of “truths” that they will see often. Take turns adding to the list daily or weekly. Here are some ideas to get you started:

It’s true you are perfectly made.
It’s true you matter to God.
It’s true you belong to God.
It’s true God loves you more than you can ever imagine.
It’s true that God has a big purpose for your life.

MEAL TIME

During meal times this month, ask your teen, “What are some questions you would like to ask God?”

BED TIME

Before your teen goes to bed, encourage them by sharing a way you recently saw God at work in or through them.
